Hate Campaign after Directorate of Religious Affairs’ homophobic khutba and following developments
30.04.2020

While the world and Turkey are struggling with the COVID-19 outbreak, on Friday (April 24th), the Directorate of Religious Affairs Administration targeted LGBTI+s and the people living with HIV at Friday’s khutbah.

After these homophobic statements, political parties, unions and human rights NGOs from Turkey reacted to the khutbah of hatred.

KaosGL.org compiled the developments that took place after the hateful khutbah and intensified attacks against the fundamental rights of LGBTI+s. You may find the related news in the following link.

Lately, President Erdoğan made a statement supporting the khutbah and following investigation opened against Ankara Bar Association. In the statement, Erdoğan said:

“Directorate of Religious Affairs is a state institution. The head of our institution made a statement as a necessity of his belief and his duty. What he said was completely true. (...) This is not related with Ankara Bar Association. Everyone must know their place. The wordings used against our Head of Religious Affairs have transcended the person, but become an intentional attack to Islam. The attacks against our Religious Affairs’ Head is the attack to our state (...)”
After the Ankara Bar Association, Diyarbakır Chief Public Prosecutor's Office has launched an investigation against the executives of Diyarbakır Bar over their statement on President of Religious Affairs' targeting remarks about LGBTI+ people.

MP of People’s Democratic Party (HDP), Garo Paylan brought the hate speech to the agenda of the Parliament. In the parliamentary question that Paylan raised, he asked following questions to Minister of Justice Abdulhamit Gül who also supported the hateful khutbah:

“1. Can a civil servant commit a hate crime by targeting LGBTI+ citizens? 2. Are the words of the Head of Religious Affairs not contrary to our Constitution, our laws and the international treaties that Turkey is a party? 3. How can you prevent hate crimes by embracing a hate speech? 4. Have you ever remind that Tukey is ruled by the rule of law?”

Hate Campaign on April 23 Children’s Day
23.04.2020
On April 23 celebrated as National Sovereignty and Children’s Day in Turkey, Kadıköy Municipality LGBTI+ Assembly made a call on social media that “April 23 is also the day of LGBTI+ children” and they asked LGBTI+s to post their childhood photos with the hashtag #LGBTIÇocuklarVardır (#LGBTIchildrenExist).

On the same days, Social Workers Association (SHUDER) organized a panel session on “LGBTI+ Children in Pandemic Period”. They published their news with the same hastag on social media.

Lately, the hashtag was targeted by a huge crowd associating the issue with pedophile and harassment. Supported by many people, the hashtag become trending topic in Turkey on 23th April.

Hate Campaign and Homophobic Statements from RTÜK
14.04.2020
On April 11, an homophobic hate campaign started on Twitter about a new Netflix series, Aşk101, to be released on 24th April. While individuals were calling on each other to stay at home with #StayHome hashtags and the government imposing confinement orders for certain age groups, we have also witnessed the emergence of the “YallahHollanda” (“Go to the Netherlands”), a homophobic slur campaign on social media. This was later followed by #netflixadamol and #adamolnetflix (“#netflix Be a Man! or #behave netflix!”), both hate-motivated campaigns initiated after a hint that one of the characters in the Netflix’s original Turkish series “Love101” will be gay.

One of the pioneers of the social media lynch was Yeni Akit newspaper that made a news about the series with the title “Net Provocation”. After their news, they asked for the The Supreme Board of Radio Television in Turkey (RTÜK) Head Ebubekir Şahin’s opinion. Commenting on this campaign, Ebubekir Şahin, the Chair of the Turkish Radio and Television Supreme Council (RTÜK), stated, “We gave them a warning. We shall keep an eye on them. All our redlines are clear. We are determined not to provide a free pass to immorality” and singled out the LGBTI+ community as a target.

After the social media hate campaign and the statements of RTÜK’s Chair, Kaos GL Association made a statement regarding the discrimination and increasing hate speech. Criticizing Şahin’s attitude, Kaos GL called Ebubekir Şahin to apologize from LGBTI+s and stop censorship.

Media ombudsman Faruk Bildirici commented on the RTÜK (Radio and Television Supreme Council of Turkey) President Ebubekir Şahin's discriminatory statement to Akit regarding the series Love 101 for kaosGL.org.

How does Covid-19 Pandemic affect LGBTI+ Community in Turkey?

Kaos GL Media and Communications Program Coordinator Yıldız Tar, wrote the effects of Covid-19 pandemic on LGBTI+ community in Turkey for Heinrich Böll Stiftung Turkey.
“For many LGBTI+ people, staying home raises domestic violence concerns. Already among the most vulnerable groups regarding access to employment, LGBTI+ individuals are now facing job and income losses. Moreover, the risk of discrimination in healthcare is higher for LGBTI+ individuals. To make matters worse, hate speech targeting the LGBTI+ community in the pretext of Covid-19 is on the rise” says Tar in their article which highlights the human rights violations in 5 headlines:

Ankara Governor’s Office appealed for the reenactment of the overturned ban!

While the Turkish government responded to the letter of United Nations experts and rapporteurs regarding the METU LGBTI+ Pride March, saying, "There is no ban issued by the Governor's Office"; Ankara Governor's Office recently appealed to the 2nd Administrative Court of Ankara's decision to overturn the "second indefinite ban on LGBTI+ activities" in the capital.

The governor's office filed an appeal, requesting the suspension of execution of the overturning decision issued by the court in the case filed by the Kaos GL Association.

On October 3, 2018, the Governor's Office argued that the second ban on LGBTI+ activities, which was declared by a letter sent to the Police Department from the Governorship of Ankara, "did not produce legal results on its own, and that it is not a violation of rights and interests".

Hate Crime from Primary School Principles: “LGBT perverts”

01.04.2020

The LGBTI+ community was systematically targeted when children, who were also stuck at home, put up pictures of rainbows in their windows in a bid to stop feeling lonely. This highly positive global action, however, first came to pro-government newspaper Yeni Akit newspaper’s attention and was met with hatred. Yeni Akit used hate speech in their news: “LGBT perverts who targeted Muslim Turkish family structure to be destroyed started to take action through children this time”

After the news, in many different cities, school principles sent same messages to the school Whatsapp groups. In the messages, it was written:

“Lately, our kids were asked to draw rainbow on paper and hang them on the windows. This is a LGBTI project. Rainbow is their symbol. This is a preparation of their Pride to be held on May. Please spread this message and warn the families. Don’t let our kids become a part of this project. Let’s not lend support to LGBT perverts.”

After the targeting, SPoD, Social Policies Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity Studies Association, made a statement by saying “There is no place for hatred under rainbow!”, and they launched a social media campaign to embrace the rainbow by sharing photos of rainbow pictures hanged on the windows by LGBTI+ community with the hashtag #EvdeKaLubunya (#StayHomeQueers).
What are the measures that must be taken for women and LGBTI+ prisoners that will be released?

Turkish Parliament has passed a bill that proposes changes to the Law on the Execution of Sentences and Security Measures. The bill foresees the release of many imprisoned individuals.

Women's Solidarity Foundation, Human Rights Association, Lambdaistanbul LGBTI Solidarity Association, Young LGBTI+ Association, and LİSTAG Association jointly issued a statement called for measures to be taken due to the COVID-19 pandemic for LGBTI+ and women prisoners who may be released through the changes to the Law on the Execution of Sentences and Security Measures.

It is reminded that the changes adopted by the Parliamentary Justice Commission on April 4th as part of the measures taken against the coronavirus, is clearly criticized by rights organizations, and it is reported that the conditions of women - LGBTI+ prisoners during and after the process of release should not be ignored.

The full statement of the demands of released women and LGBTI+ regarding the need for a safe house, and other physical and psychological needs is in the following link.
